DEDICATION

To our happy memories of Bernice Elaine Hoover, whom we remember for her beauty, laughter and kindness, we dedicate the 1957 Eaglet.

Although we cannot understand the fatal tragedy which claimed her young life, we are comforted by believing that there is no death. The leaves may fall and flowers may fade and pass away, but they only wait through wintry hours until spring re-awakens them.

We wish this page to symbolize the infinite fondness and lingering affection we feel for our classmate and friend.

ADMINISTRATION

We look to them

for competent guidance

Mr. Howard Trexel
Supervising Principal

Mr. Donald Rininger
Secondary Principal

Made up of capable and efficient leaders, the administration is a vital part of our school system. Working together, those persons constituting the administration keep the school system in efficient working order and create better facilities for both faculty and students. We, as students, appreciate their efforts in trying to make our school program more interesting and well-balanced.

Mr. Howard Trexel, our supervising principal, has done much for the schools in the area, including action on a new senior high school building which will be constructed in the near future.

Mr. Donald Rininger, our secondary principal, is always ready to offer guidance and to provide an interesting school program for the students.

Our new assistant supervising principal, Mr. Vernon Lease, has fitted easily into his position and has proven himself capable of carrying on his duties.

Mr. Rankin Jones, vocational co-ordinator, keeps the shops working together and sees that they meet federal and state requirements.

Students who find themselves confronted with problems, both immediate or concerning the future, can always turn to Mrs. Pauline Glessner, our guidance counselor, who is ready and willing to offer helpful advice.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Standing: Mr. Edward Ankney, Mr. Harry Barnett, Mr. Irvin F. Woodrow, Mr. Gene Yoder, Mr. George Doolittle, Mr. Michael E. Seniors

Avid athletes . . . serious scholars . . . whimsical wits

Our senior year—so eagerly anticipated, so enthusiastically enjoyed—was too rapidly completed. Realities only yesterday are memories today.

When we returned to school in August, it was hard to believe we were seniors; but it didn't take us long to get into the swing of things—cheering for our guys at tough football games, hardly realizing it would be their last season. The roar of pep meetings in the auditorium, the soft music in the gym after a game, the strains of the band drifting into classrooms the eighth period, the chatter in the cafeteria at noontime, the thoughtful silence in the library when P. D. reports were due, the cheers when the mortgage was burned—these are the contrasts we lived and loved.

The thrill of having senior pictures taken, and the pride we felt when the proofs arrived; the time and effort we put into our magazine sales, and the great feeling of accomplishment when we topped our goal; the turkey dinner Room 116 won; class play tryouts, and then the terrific performances of "House Without Windows"; the beautiful dance the sophomores gave us; and the polished Christmas cantata—all these are memories now.

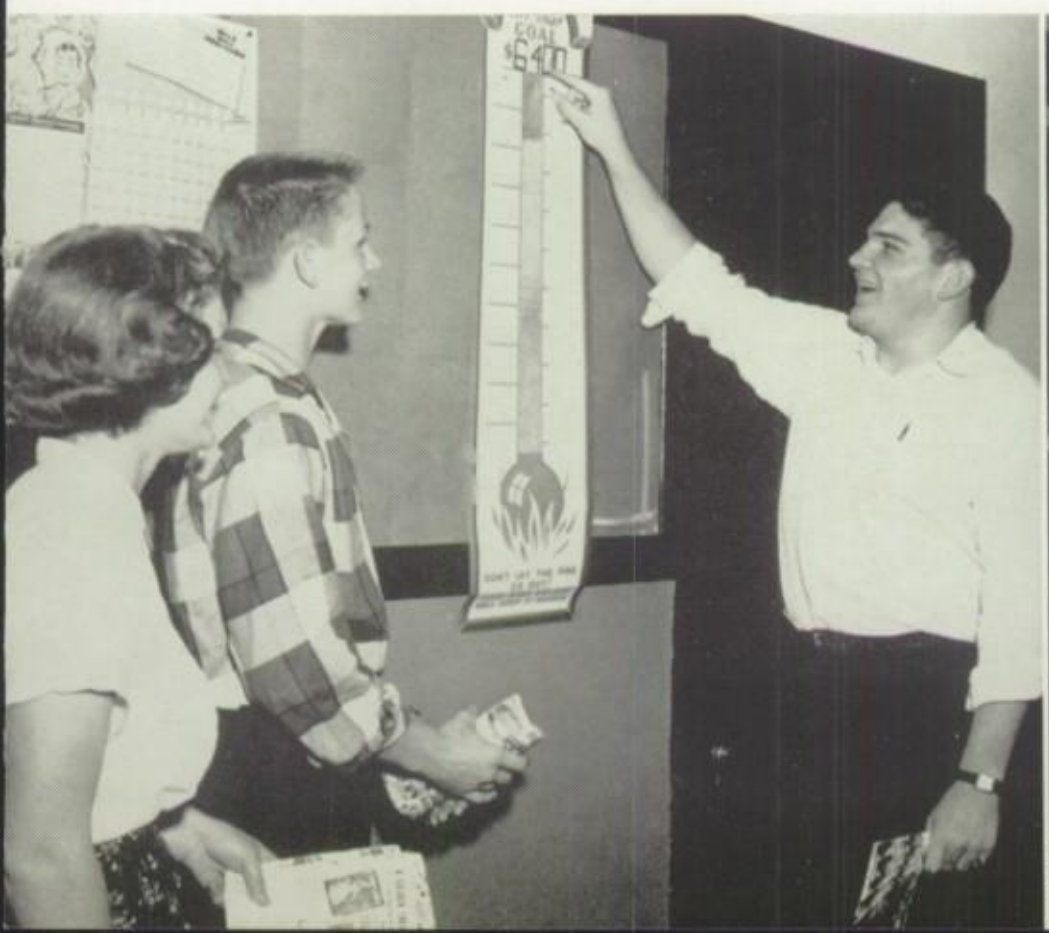
Ordering name cards and announcements officially opened our second—and last—semester. The empty feeling we had for a moment when realizing the end was near was soon lost among the excitement and tenseness, the hilarity and soberness that was all part of the music festivals, the Honor Society and Quill and Scroll inductions, the Maple Queen and Ugly Man Contests, the Tug-of-War, and the track meets in the welcome spring weather.

Soon we were measured for caps and gowns, and awards day left us feeling a little lost as our assembly seats were filled by juniors. The prom arrived, and we danced for the last time as students to soft music in a dim and beautifully decorated gym.

Events then gathered increasing speed. We witnessed a solemn and impressive Baccalaureate service, followed by our Commencement. We were filled with an emotion never to be forgotten as we stepped up to accept our diplomas and then joined our voices together in singing our Alma Mater for the last time.

Now an important step forward into adulthood is upon us, but as we move on, we leave a part of our lives here where our memories will remain young and bright forever.

And they said we couldn't do it!



Winsome Willie wins an A.

OFFICERS

President	Robert Gerhardt
Vice President	David Antenucci
Secretary	Maya Rubens
Treasurer	Bonita Braucher
Sponsor	Mr. George Bressler

The juniors this year have proved themselves very capable of taking their place as the seniors of 1958.

This active class was represented in every phase of school life. Leading the band was Allen Shaffer, who was also found at the piano when needed. Following Allen were five lively junior majorettes.

In football the juniors contributed Jim West, Larry Hutzell, Jim McCall, Scott Gordon, Bill Herb, and Dick Bowlby. On the basketball floor were Alan Beech, David Antenucci, Ed Lohr, and Eldon Lephart.

Cheering our teams on to victory were six energetic junior cheerleaders.

Helping our band support the team, or adding their talent to the orchestra were Joyce Rock, Susan Halverson, Bob Friedline, and George Hoffman, to mention only a few. District festivals were attended by Bob Gerhardt, Virginia Nedrow, and Betsy Hershey. Betsy Hershey also attended State Band.

Edwin Bauer and Tommie Teed were always the center of laughter in the classroom or on a band bus filled with members of this lively, fun-loving class.

They really worked hard to give us our dance, and we'll never forget their wonderful prom. Our thanks to you, juniors, and we're wishing you good luck in your new place next year.

The Sophomore Class is a talented and well-liked group. They presented us a lovely Soph-Senior entitled "Parisian Tete-a-Tete."

Really going places, this class has outstanding representatives in all fields. Scholastically, Donna Pile and Dennis Keefer lead the pack. Among those who represent their class musically are Alan Miller, who attended District Band, Bill Yost, Wayne Beeghly, Sandy Blough, Susan Pile and Linda Walker, all of whom are in Senior Band. Stand-outs in vocal music are Linda Reed, Mike Serluco, and Eileen Bisel.

The Sophomores can also claim high-stepping majorette Judy Lape and peppy JV cheerleaders, Georgia Doolittle and Kay Waugaman.

This group also has made contributions in all sports with Dave Trent, Bill Cesarone, and Chester Berkey in football, Don McCall in wrestling, Jim Vargo, Terry Welker, and Paul Zellem in basketball, and Jim Croyle in track.

This year the sophomores have covered themselves with glory, and their future in SJHS looks bright indeed.

Starting their year off with a bang, these students had a party for spooks, ghosts and goblins only—the Freshman Halloween Party.

Several of their heroes in football were David McClemens, Jim Pfrogner and Ronald Williams.

These busy beavers have started their own special Junior High Chorus, which they confidently believe will be successful.

We can't forget the Junior High Orchestra and Band that gave them an opportunity to prepare for Senicr Band and Orchestra.

Screaming, scrambling, jingling and jangling, these are our Freshmen. Best of luck to the class of '60.

Striving to reach their goal as seniors, the eighth graders are busy making their way to the top. Represented in clubs, sports, and Junior Band, they are full of pep. Aiding their class in scholastics are Connie Coffroth, Marsha Bender, and Kenneth Sube. In cheerleading Penny Shoemaker, Elaine Long, and Ellen Wengler are active.

Their outstanding class project was the Eighth Grade Calendar Assembly. Under the direction of Mrs. Antoinette Cesarone, Mrs. Melba Beech, and narrator Kirsten Anderson, a colorful and well-acted assembly program was enjoyed by the entire student body.

Already this group of energetic, vivacious youngsters have made their influence felt at SJHS.

The seventh grade, though in a different building, is ambitious in many ways. They had assembly programs every two weeks and have participated in a radio program. Led by their active president, Frank Orban, they bought a stage curtain, which added greatly to the auditorium. They also have started a newspaper, published every week by different homerooms. To add to the music line, they have started a German band. May 3 was the date of their annual party, which was enjoyed by all. Looking forward to their future years at Somerset Joint High School is this class of 1962.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Our Student Council is an active organization of student government in Somerset Joint High School. It is composed of a member representative from each homeroom in the building and is headed by a president chosen by the entire student body in the spring of the year.

Some of the activities that the council sponsored this year were buying spotlights for the electric football scoreboard, buying records to be played at lunchtime in the gymnasium, and "Twirp Week", which we hope will become a tradition. The junior high and senior high councils put up a beautiful Christmas tree.

Student government is encouraged by the administration as a practical experience in a working democracy. One of the main functions of the council is to act as an intermediary between the authority of the administration and the actions of the students. Within the council, all the members have ample opportunity to learn and practice civil authority and to become better acquainted with the prcblems of government.

EAGLES ECHO

Changing our name and policies increased our rating and circulation

Friday is press time for the Eagles Echo, and that means deadline time for the hard-working reporters of the journalism class. Under the able guiding hand of Mrs. Hay, the staff put out a monthly paper, which is a member of the International Quill and Scroll. Working on a class and workshop basis, the periods were used for both instruction and production.

Sports writers Steve Barnett and Joe Lippincott were always on the spot to cover the numerous school events. Gwen Newcomer kept up our public relations through the exchange.

"Count those heads down to the last unit!" was Mrs. Hay's litany down to the final sixteen page senior issue. After weeks of hounding people for information and interviews, the finished product was thoroughly checked by Editor-in-Chief Betsy Matthews and Managing Editor JoAnnette Serluco and proudly presented to the public.

Joe Lippincott dictates his latest sports scoop to Yvonne Zimmerman as Peggy Fritz and Karen Oester scan the current issue.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Recognition for unselfish contributions in various fields

The letters CSLS appearing on the National Honor Society emblem stand for character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Under the capable sponsorship of Miss Bessie Long, each member of the National Honor Society strives to promote these four qualities.

Once a year students eligible for membership in this organization are voted upon by the faculty. To be eligible, a student must be in the upper third of the junior or senior class. Five per cent of the juniors and ten per cent of the seniors may be installed in one year.

One of the activities of the NHS is decorating the front windows of the school for the Christmas season. This year Betsy Matthews designed a scene consisting of bright-colored angels supporting letters which spelled out Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

To be elected to the National Honor Society is the highest honor a student of SJHS may receive and is a goal toward which all should strive.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Standing: Karen Oester, Elizabeth Matthews, JoAnnette Serluco. Seated: Steve Barnett, Joseph Lippincott.

The Quill and Scroll Society, national honorary society for high school journalists, began this year with only one member, Betsy Matthews. Since membership in this organization is highly selective, it has taken in only four new members during 1957. Requirements for this organization are: the applicant must be in the upper third of his class; he must have been a staff member of the Eagles Echo for at least one year; he must have submitted at least 100 printed inches of copy; he must do consistently superior work in some phase of journalistic or creative endeavor.

The new members, Karen Oester, Joseph Lippincott, Steve Barnett, and JoAnnette Serluco, were inducted in May.

A service organization, the Key Club has many projects for the betterment of the school to its credit.

Pep Club

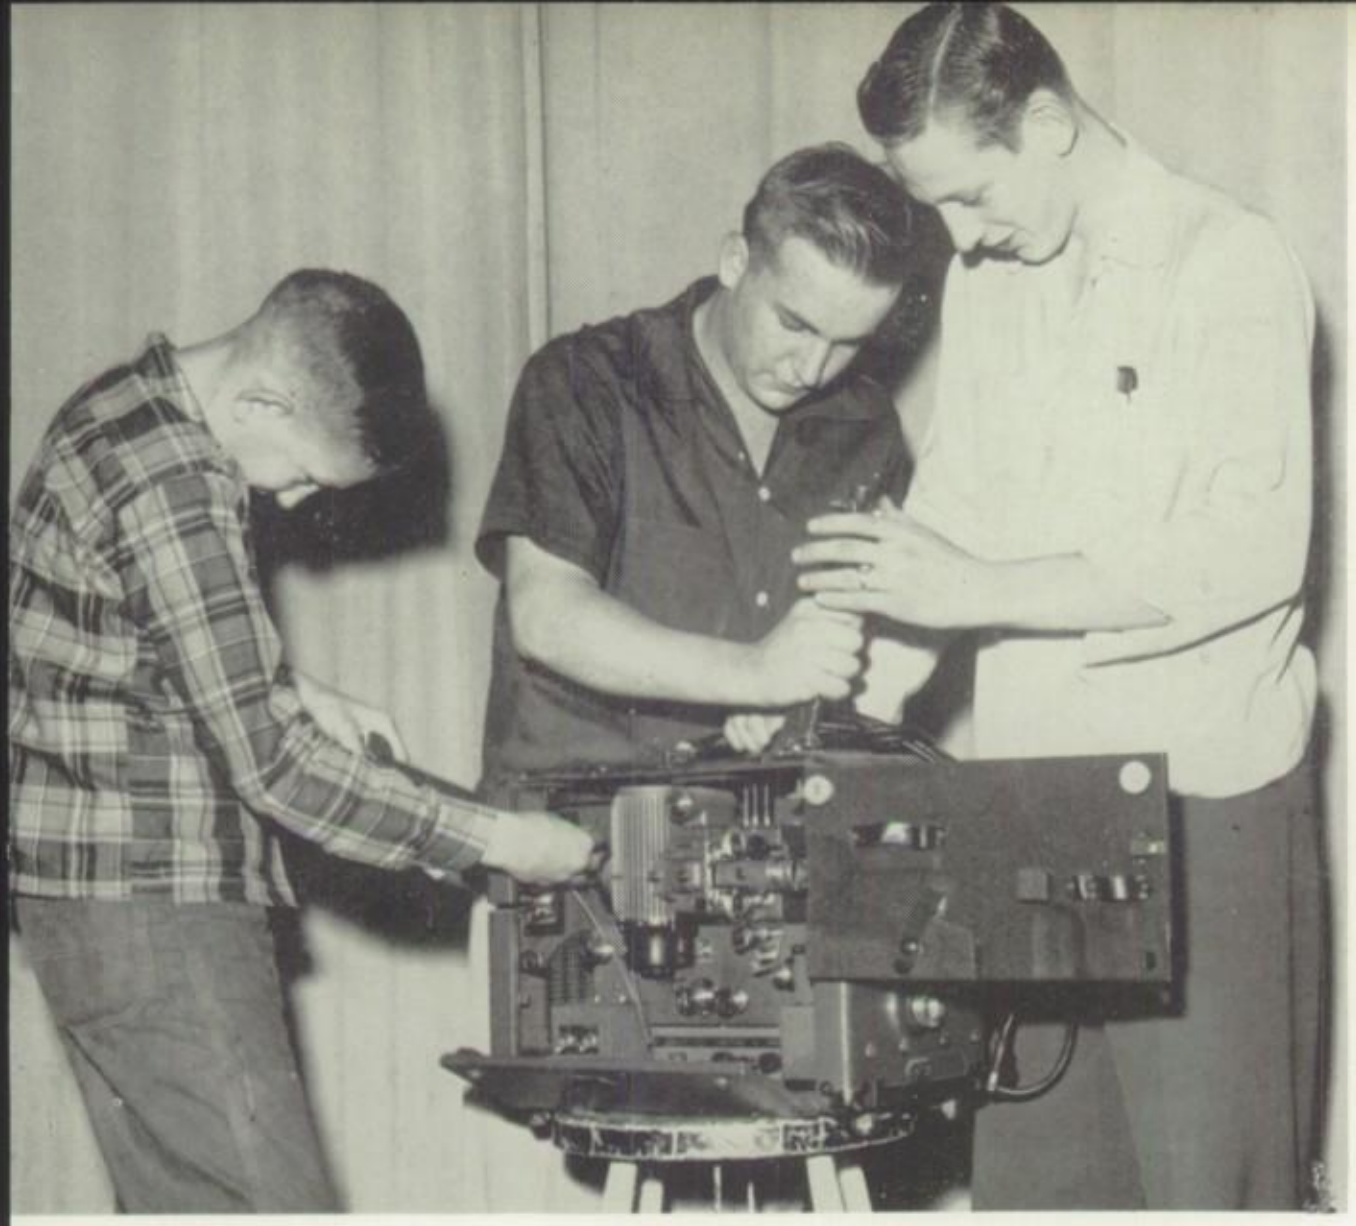
Jane Christner, Mary Jane Uphouse, Jean Kimmel, Lorraine Stahl, and Delberta Wiltrout pile the boxes high for a football pep rally and bonfire. The Pep Club, which is dedicated to keeping school spirit high, sponsored pep assemblies and sold pep jackets, pens, and teddy bears for all Somerset High students.

Eagle Bowmen

Ray Swank, John Pritts, Tom Tennent, and Ronald Blough take a breather between rounds of target practice. Using the fair weather of the fall and spring to do their actual shooting, club members spent the winter weeks repairing bows and making bowstrings and arrows.

Advanced Art Club

Standing: Minnie Pritts, Roger Stern, David Overson. Kneeling: Ted Zeigler, Janet Weigle, Richard Ferner. The Advanced Art Club affords interested art students an opportunity to follow more extensively the fields of their special talents.



Photoplay Club

Ken Farkosh, Jim Walker, and Jack Countryman prepare to set up a projector for use in assembly. The members of the Photoplay Club—all experienced operators of visual aids—were always available for presenting classroom movies, slides, or filmstrips.

Future Homemakers Of America

Carol Knupp, Sandy Swope, Connie Houpt, Barbara Bush, and Gladys Ash admire the FHA emblem. The girls of the club were busy all year at money-making projects, including candy sales, a basketball concession and dance, a bake sale, and a square dance. They also presented a demonstration at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Future Farmers Of America

Wayne Coughenour, Bill Hay, Philip Ogline, Jim Svonavec, and Herman Rosey prepare the school farm tractor for action. FFA work included both individual and club projects.

Household Mechanics

Lois McDaniel, Carol Fike, Beverly Ogline, and Marie Beck work on projects which teach them to handle small household repair jobs without asking for a man's help.

Hunting And Fishing Club

Hunting plans are the topic of the day with John Pritts, Fred Ogline, Jerry Skeria, and Joe Tirko. The Hunting and Fishing Club's meetings gave its members an opportunity to re-hash previous field trips and to plan new ones.

Chess Club

Eugene Stayrook, demonstrates an opening chess move to Bobby Spoerline and Burdette Walker. The members of the Chess Clubs met at least once a week to match wits over a chess board.

Tri-Hi-Y

Donna Anodide, Lois Dively, Judy Meyers, Joan Spangler, and Nancy Hoover are engaged in making colorful Tri-Hi-Y insignia. This club was active all year long. Among its projects were faculty teas, weekly school-wide devotions every Friday, Christmas boxes for the needy, and a Teen Talk study course.

Senior Dramatics

Mabel Keafer, Ruth Johnson and Celine Hoffman represent the three Senior Dramatics Clubs in our school. Through these groups, interested students gain experience in direction, stage management, make-up, and actual dramatic performance.

Camera Club

Charles Showman, Don Housel, Connie Barnett, Patsy Beckner, and Dorali Pyle inspect the work of the enlarger. Members of the Camera Club learned to follow the photographic cycle from taking a picture to the final finishing printing or enlarging. Many school activities were caught by the cameras of this group.

Aviation Club

Lloyd Swank, Mr. Sayler, and Joe Sager inspect a model airplane—one of the Aviation Club's projects. Mr. Sayler gave the members of his club first hand information on aviation gleaned from his experiences in World War II.

Radio Club

Top: Betty Tomcik, Steve Barnett, Jo Ann Derencin.
First: Connie Sabin, Mabel Keafer, Patty Kooser.

Members cf the Radio Club wrote, produced, and presented an hour long radio program one Saturday every 6 weeks over Radio Station WVSC. Their programs included top records, interviews with persons in the spotlight, panel discussions, school news, sport news, and advertising for school activities.

School Patrol

Bill Kraft, Nelson Cooper, James Dunn and James Shaffer are four members of our active bus and street patrols. These groups regulate traffic at all athletic events, street crossings and buses through the school year.

Library Club

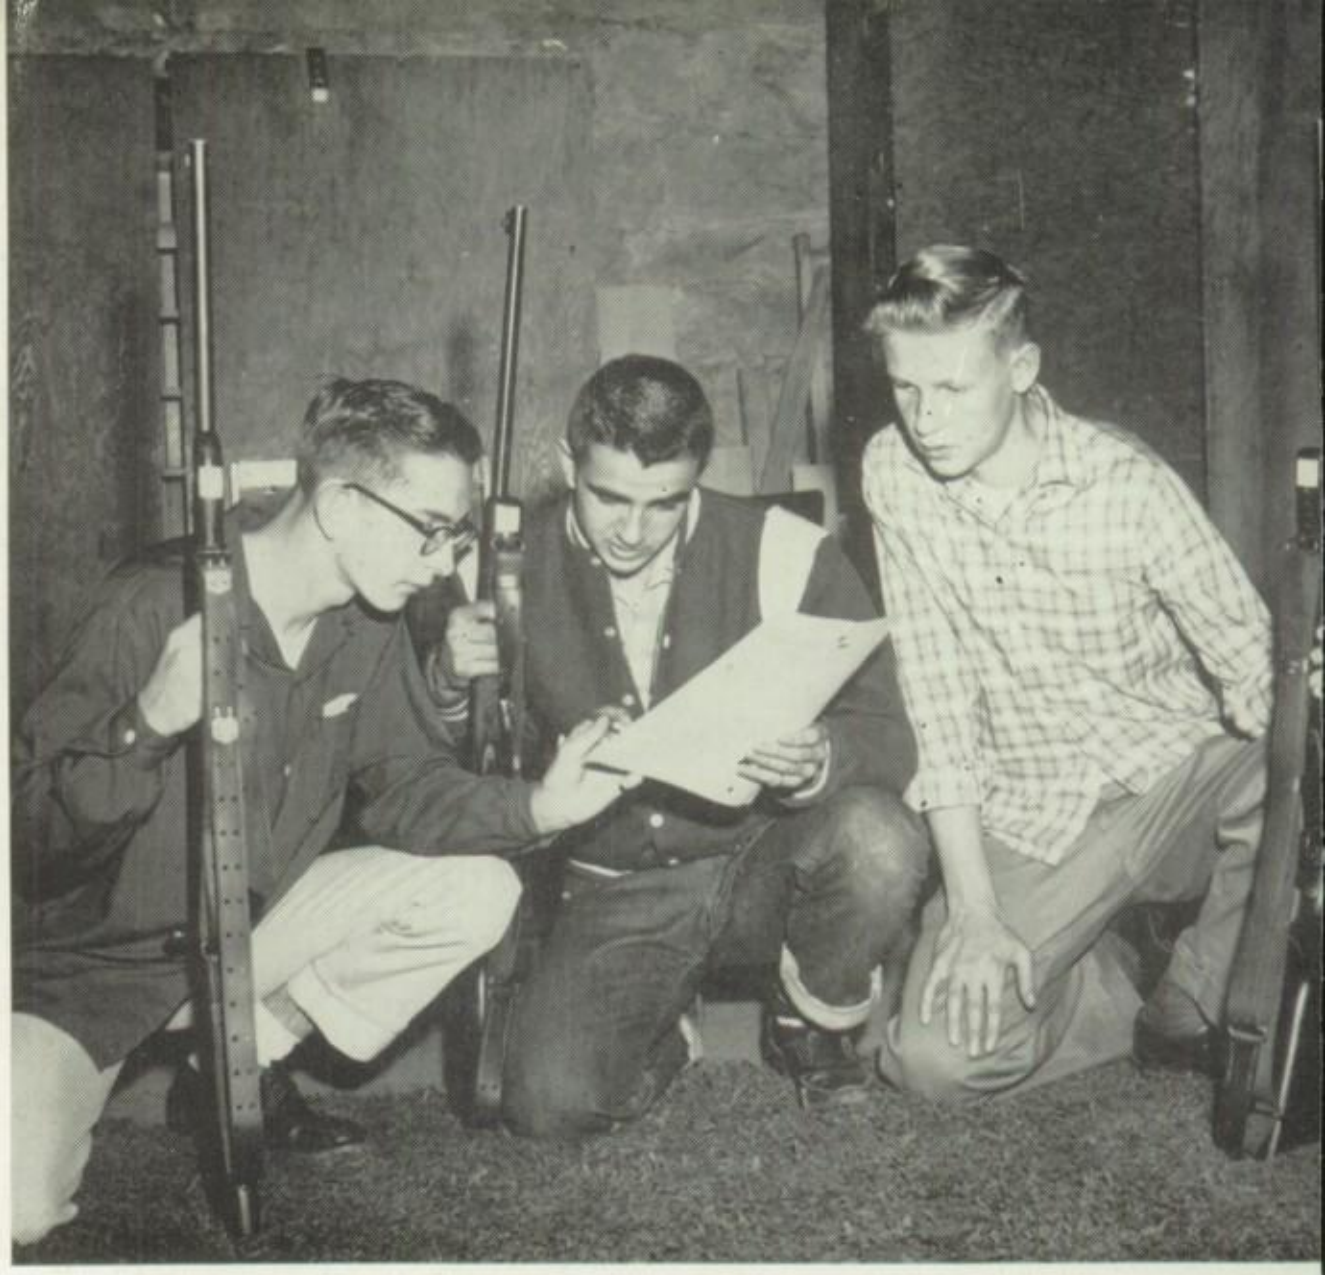
Pat Hetzer, Mary Ann Risko, Jeanetta Pugh, Virginia Holladay, Delores Walker, and Dorothy Miller put finishing touches on one of the library bulletin boards, which were re-decorated every two weeks. Members of the three clubs worked alternately on club programs, checked and restocked library shelves, worked on bulletin boards, mended books, filed cards, and worked at the checkout desk.

Junior Historians

Judy Mardis, Esther Mostoller, Martha Male, and James Dunn make plans for the radio program they broadcasted over Station WVSC. The 1957 projects of the club included the sale of name labels. Members attended the Central-Western Regional Conference of the Pennsylvania Federation of Junior Historians in March.

Rifle Club

Bob Bittner, Paul Brant and Earl Stahl take a minute out while shooting target. Once a week, Rifle Club members practiced target shooting, and letters and awards were presented at the end of the year for outstanding achievement.



S Club

Top: Maize, Stoner, Bowlby, Lippincott, Varner, Hutzell, Lape. Second: Heist, Ferner, McCall, Salyers, Herb, Marple, Davis. First: Antenucci, Beech, Gordon, West, Sherwood, Vincent.

The S Club is an athletic honorary group. In order to qualify for membership, a boy must be a letterman in at least one of the four major sports at SJHS.

Future Teachers Of America

Georgian Ream, Connie Sipe, Sam Sherwood, Kay Barchey, and Dave Brinham spearhead preparations for College Night. The FTA is an organization of high school students who are looking forward to a career in the teaching field.

Come on, five cents for that candy bar in your pocket!

VOCAL MUSIC

The field of vocal music has prospered again in Somerset under the masterful tutelage of Mr. Phillip Holsinger.

Our mixed chorus contained 200 talented voices, of which 23 went to County Chorus. Our chorus was also honored by having Gwen Newcomer, JoAnnette Serluco, David Brinham, David Eisler, Robert Gerhardt, and James Vincent represent us in District Chorus which was held in Portage, Pennsylvania. JoAnnette Serluco was then selected for All-State Chorus.

Our music department not only consisted of a mixed chorus, but also boasted a girls ensemble and boys chorus which combined to form a Christmas Cantata Chorus. This Cantata Chorus also respresented us at the County Festival. Separate concerts were given by the Boys Chorus at the local service clubs.

Solos took their place in chorus with Jim Vincent singing "Toreador Song" from Carmen, Pat Brant and Michael Serluco the "Recessional" by Kipling, and Linda Reed "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod. Our choruses experienced a full and interesting year which provided entertainment for their audiences as well as musical growth for their members.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Our instrumental music department, under the direction of Mr. Chester Singer and Mr. Robert Griffith, has successfully completed another year of good music on the parade ground as well as on the concert stage.

This year the Senior Band consisted of one hundred twenty members, led by our drum major, Allen Shaffer, with Kay Barchey heading our eight snappy majorettes. Nineteen students represented our school at County Band; Betsy Hershey, Alan Miller, Carol Conn, and Margie Wagner attended District Band; and Betsy Hershey attended State Band.

The Senior Orchestra has given many fine performances at school activities as well as their outstanding spring concert. During the past year seven orchestra members participated in District Orchestra.

The members of the Junior Band and Junior Orchestra, performing at school assemblies and concerts, have proved themselves to be true musicians.

Due to the efforts of Mr. Singer and Mr. Griffith, our music department has given us many pleasant memories of our school year.

A little ham and lots of heart

Our Senior Class Play, "House Without Windows" was truly a big BLAST, especially when Mrs. Friedhofer and Mrs. Cindric were ready to blast both casts off the stage.

After Mrs. Cindric's piano concert accompanied, of course, by Betsy Matthews' ballet and Janet Cargill's vocal renditions, rehearsal finally got under way. Delays were frequently caused by Sam Sherwood, who couldn't be at practice because he was so busy attending banquets.

We'll never forget the night that by coincidence (Johnson, Brinham, Hottle, and Lowry) a bomb got into the motor of Mrs. F's green Plymouth. Jim Vincent's habit of hiding in dark corridors and scaring the female members of the cast added excitement to the general procedure.

Student directors, Karen Oester and Esther Mostoller, spent their evenings trying to locate Connie Sipe, JoAnnette Serluco, Margie Wagner, Mabel Keafer, Gwen Newcomer and Kay Barchey, who were usually AWOL from the auditorium.

Famous last words were, "All right, kids, just get your duds on and scram; there won't be any class play; now stop goofing off." But through it all, our wonderful directors, stage crew and property crew worked and worried with the cast until the best class play ever presented entertained a spellbound audience.

"And, as my favorite philosopher says—"

"It is I who pay the bills"

"Please don't fuss, Mother!"

"Oh, Arthur, I do understand."

THE 1957 EAGLET

Judy Mardis, Business Manager; Janet Cargill, Associate Editor; Betsy Matthews, Editor-in-Chief; and Margie Wagner, Assistant Business Manager, relax after sending the '57 Eaglet to press.

The making of this book is a project that we shall long remember. How well we recall such lines as "Get those assignments in!" and "How many words in that write-up?"

During the fall of the year, Mr. Gradler and Mrs. Cindric could be seen hurrying busily here and there taking the pictures that now appear in the Eaglet. Special days were set aside for picture taking when we all hoped for good weather.

When the falling leaves were replaced by falling snow, the Eaglet Literary Staff, under the direction of Mrs. Cindric, began the arduous task of writing and assembling the material to be used in the Eaglet. As the pictures began returning from the engraver, the staff members had a great deal of fun writing captions and identifications for them.

Finally, in March, the finishing touches were added to this, our yearbook, and you are now enjoying the completed product.

Captured the comical and cultural highlights of our year

While the Eaglet Literary Staff labored diligently writing captions and identifying pictures, the Eaglet Business Staff, under the direction of Miss Marie Brant, was also busy. It was the task of the Business Staff to finance the Eaglet. This they did by several methods.

One method was to sell magazine subscriptions. In selling these subscriptions the Senior class set a new record for magazine sales this year.

Another method of financing the Eaglet was to solicit patrons—prominent professional people and business establishments in and around Somerset.

Through the excellent work of the Eaglet Business Staff the expenditures were met and this bock was financed.

Mention must also be given to the excellent art work done on the Eaglet by Miss Betsy Matthews. We know that we have a better Eaglet because of her artistic abilities.

FOOTBALL

Although the outlook for football seemed very dismal at the beginning of the season because of inexperience, Somerset's football team had much determination, willingness to learn, and intestinal fortitude. As the season progressed, our team became more experienced and better equipped to face its opponents. Those nights of hard practice and wise coaching were starting to pay off. Not only was Somerset's football team winning most of their games, but good sportsmanship along with the ability to control their emotions was adding to our team's prestige.

After a tough game or a hard practice there is nothing like a good solid meal, and thanks to our school, we were supplied with many meals that were most delicious.

Somerset was developing a very good team out of her inexperienced players, but this did not interfere with the personality of its participants. Good boys working hard together make a good team. Of course the excellent relationship between our coaches, Mr. Waugaman, Mr. Weaver, and Mr. Colliver, and the boys must not be forgotten. The team and the coaches intermingled very successfully which naturally helped us to have a better team. It should be a privilege to play on a football team, and it certainly was a privilege to play on the 1956 Somerset football team. Not only had a boy to be in perfect physical condition, but he had to pass scholastically and conduct himself respectfully around school as well as in the community.

Eventually the football season has to come to an end, and another season with another sport replaces it. But what one has learned during his football experiences can never be replaced. Good sportsmanship, alertness, the ability to think under pressure, and the vivid memories of the many experiences one has endured during his football career can never be forgotten. Somerset's football team finished the season with a record of 5-3-1, which is a satisfactory mark anywhere.

LARRY HUTZELL ... junior halfback ... scatback ... jet propelled ... hits sharp and fast.

SAM SHERWOOD ... senior fullback ... a standout both offensively and defensively ... moved to Somerset at the beginning of the season ... a gentleman off the field as well as on it.

JAMES VINCENT ... senior fullback ... moved from guard because of his size and speed ... a great player his junior year ... played less than one full game this year because of a shoulder injury.

DAVID ANTENUCCI ... junior end ... likes to snag passes ... should be a fine receiver in '57.

BASKETBALL

With hard work, determination, and basketball know-how, the Eagles came through with a winning season of 11 victories and 10 defeats.

Under the able leadership of our new coach, Mr. Chris Stoner, and with an ever-prevalent desire to win, the team overcame its handicap of inexperience, and as the season progressed, victories became more and more frequent.

Sparking the squad was senior Sam Sherwood, who broke three school records set by Bob Lape in 1953: most points in a single game—44; most points for a season—538; and the highest season average for points per game—24.5. Sam was tops not only in scoring, but also in teamwork and sportsmanship.

Although we lost the District 5 Championship to Bedford, the Golden Eagles were always in there fighting, and were a team of which we can be proud. To those fellows who will remain for next year's team, we leave our best wishes for an even better season to come.

TRACK

As the 1956 track season opened, Somerset triumphed over Ferndale in the opening meet, a dual meet at home. The Western Pennsylvania Coaches Association meet was held at Altoona. Altoona and Johnstown took the top spots, with Somerset third. Shade and Boswell lost to Somerset in the first Triangular meet. Our team took second place in the second Triangular meet with Johnstown. In competition with eight other schools, Somerset won the Mountain Conference. Our team was last year's District 5 champion. The meet was in competition with five other schools.

Jim Vincent was the only member to go to state last year. Jim McCall, Larry Hutzell, and Jim Vincent received letters.

The Mountain Conference record in shot-put was broken by Jim Vincent. He also placed first in shot-put at the Junior Pitt meet, which consisted of about twenty-five schools.

Our track season was a distinct success, with great promise for the future.

WRESTLING

Inexperience did not dampen competitive spirit of Eagle strong men

The Somerset Joint High School wrestling team of 1957 failed to gain a team victory; however, there were many individual wins, which indicated that our team lacked nothing in spirit and fight.

With three returning lettermen—Dale Barron, Karl Suter, and Kenneth Harkcom—the inexperienced squad began practice under the capable coaching of Joseph Maslak on November 24. Although practice was held in the newly-constructed fieldhouse instead of the gym or the icehouse, the grapplers still went through their routine pace up and down Combecker Hill and in our gym in order to be in their best shape for the first match on December 5 with Windber.

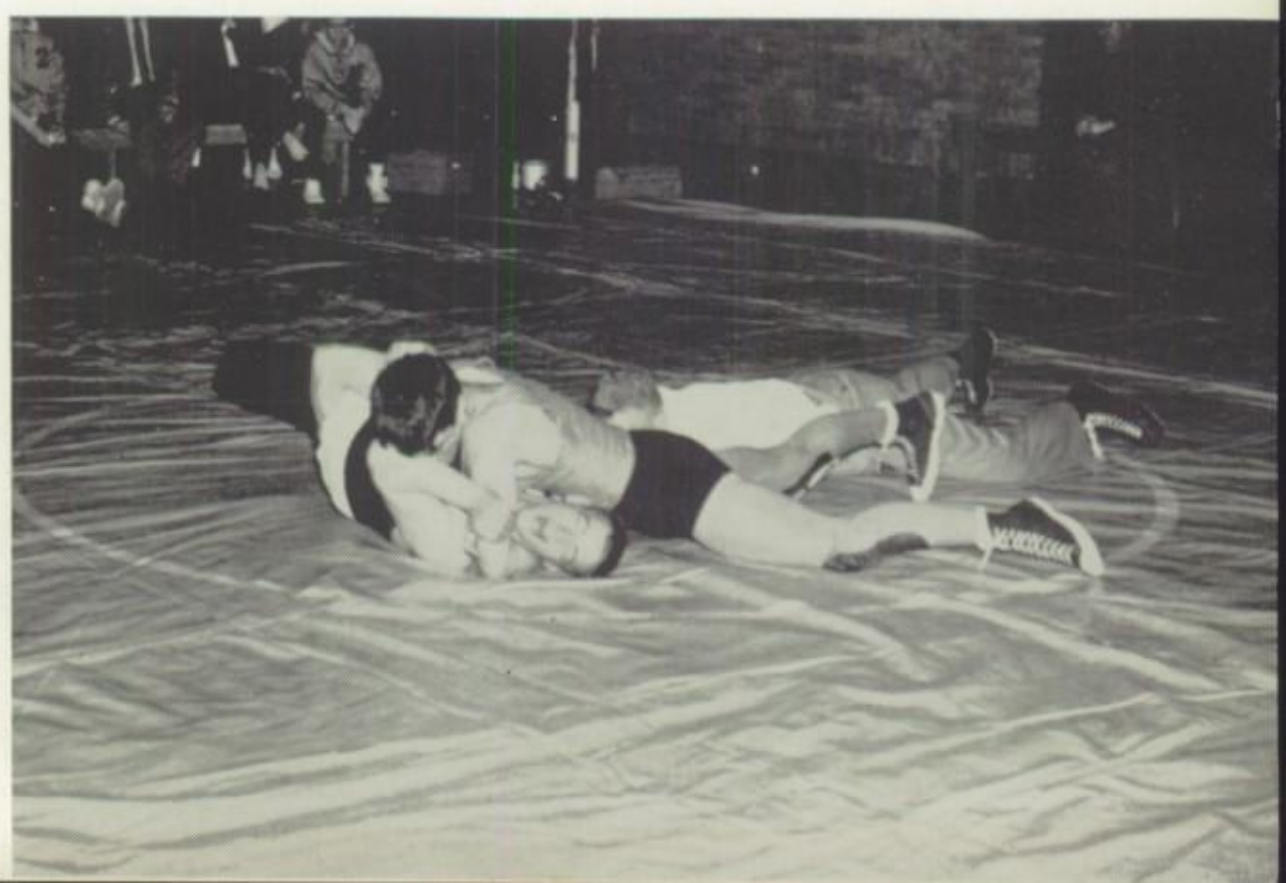
Many weight classes were wrestled by first-year men, mostly juniors, who lacked the necessary experience.

Our best representative was the senior, Dale Barron, who possessed a record of six wins and one loss, to Johnstown in dual competition.

Karl Suter, Richard Salyers, Floyd DePhillips and Dale Barron represented our team at the PIAA District 5 Championship meet held at Bedford on March 8 and 9. Suter, in the 103 lb. class, was decisioned by Everett, 5-4, in the semi-finals; Salyers, in the 154 lb. class, was pinned by Everett in the semi-finals; DePhillips, in the 120 lb. class, was decisioned by Bedford, 5-0, in the semi-finals. Dale Barron, the lone Eagle to reach the championship finals, was decisioned by Chestnut Ridge, 4-2.

With the long and impressive list of returning wrestlers who are gaining experience with every match, greater successes are sure to come to the SJHS wrestling squads of the future.



Barron's bone-crushing maneuvers won many matches.
